

Miss Geraldine Curtis von Hamburg.

Sie ist nicht schön zu nennen, aber süßlich.
Sie lebte in London einen Saint = Simonisten, der aus Ägypten kam. Er konnte sie nicht heirathen, wurde aber ihr Freund: Sie ging zusammen nach Paris. Im Wintergarten trug sie eines Abends einem großen Ägypter Mann, der Begleiter des Miss sehr zusammen und grüßte voll Ehrerbietung:
"Die Miss kommt süßlich, was ist sie?" "C'est le Père!" sprach er. Es war Cyprien. Sie wollte ihm später wohlgefallen sein; aber es geschah nicht.

Miss Gertrudine Jumburg
an Amalia Lölle.

Supper of Gough in Liverpool.

1846.

Amalia Lölle.

Miss Gertrudine Jumburg
an Amalia Lölle.

1846.

1.

and
dearest

Dear Miss Lölle

about

Mrs. Carlyle is here is

viz at Seaforth House will

Liverpool & has been unable to come - but here for the last three

They saw how really

weeks & by the blessing

She enjoys this absence of God we hope & they

of all necessity &

here in the same place

labour in the cause

for three weeks & come

of general animosity

for she is getting much they will forgive her letter in our hands

& find grace enough

she sleeps better, looks

& rejoice in being better, eats better &

I hope is better in health

Amalia Lölle.

Miss Gertrude Jumbury
an Amalia Götte.

1846.

1.

that all her friends get very badly tempted wth. They must submit As well as their Strength of soul will enable them - but if they saw how really
she enjoys this absence
of all necessity &
labour in the cause
of general civilization they w^d. forgive her & find grace enough
to rejoice in being

Dear Miss Götte

Mrs. Carlyle is here

viz at Seaford House

Liverpool & has been

here for the last three

weeks & by the blessing

of God we hope to keep her in the same place

for three weeks & come

for she is getting much better in our hands

she sleeps better, looks

better, eats better &

I hope is better in health.

Amalia Götte.

as well as in appearance. She has desired me to write to give you intelligence about her because ^{knowing} the other very estimable qualities she has developed a profound longing about all ~~her~~ employment in general & letter writing in particular stands pre-eminent. A daily letter to her husband is the utmost she gets accomplished & I think she rejoices in her heart when Saturday comes in order that she may abstain from that with a clear conscience. It follows naturally

I have put it off so long I hardly know whether she will thank me for doing it at all & I am quite sure that you will not thank me for writing instead of her. I think that I am the person with the best right to complain & there is always a great comfort in feeling licensed as others think oneself hardly used of her friendship & made victims to her repose & but I must tell you that I believe in my heart she would never venture on such coolness if she were not assured that they one & all were capable of making what Catholics call an act of Faith. I abstain from all fears & doubts as to the stability of her friendship & draw no conclusions that her silence intimated indifference. I am only a visitor here like herself but I have been here so often that all my people have long ago resigned themselves to never hearing of me or getting any sort of good out of me beyond what they can find in their own benevolent convictions that I am enjoying myself.

I was desirous to write you and example by return of post but the atmosphere of the place was stronger than even her commands & now that

Seaforth House near Liverpool Monday -

3.

3

- We are hoping that Mr. Carlyle is here for a couple of days or perhaps more on his way to Scotland next week
I we are also in hopes that the rain will have ceased by that time, or that it will take blowing or snowing by way of change - Mr. Carlyle

desires her kind love if you can "make believe very much"
I fancy this letter comes from her
I write her an answer in that belief I think it wd. please her
I am sure it wd gratify me & see that I had been able to compose in her name - any way

Don't feel vexed at me for submitting the substitution tho' I candidly own it is not doing as I wd. be done by
for if I wanted a letter from her I wd. not thank any one for sending me one instead - I write much sympathy Believe me very truly yr Geraldine F. Tinsley

Miss Gavalina Jambury, Werkstatterin und Komant "Zor", war im Sommer 1845 arfian und fife viel Anfassen musste, weil ein Pfarrer der Geld bedalben ist. Aufrecht ist ein Landsitz bei Ligarzol, wo Mrs. Cur-lye und Miss Jambury bei ihrer brüderlichen Komandin Mrs. Paulat zum Besuch waren. Miss Jambury (1846.) schreibt aber ein neues Werk.

